

This blistering Bristol-based duo hit with the force of a much bigger unit. A stand-up drummer who also delivers keening vocals, and a crunchy, dextrous, raging guitarist – the perfect girl/boy, punk-blues alchemy.

The upcoming six-song EP ‘I Don’t Give a Damn Anymore’ by Bristol-based Husky Tones continues their individual take on punk-blues genre (begun in February 2017 with the album ‘Who Will I Turn To Now?’). Delivered by standing singer-drummer Victoria (Boo) Bourne and guitarist Chris Harper, Husky Tones’ musical, lyrical, and sonic influences include contemporary and classic punk blues acts such as The Bonnevilles, Miraculous Mule, The Gun Club, punk legends Patti Smith and Iggy Pop, the music of the North Mississippi Hill Country artists such as R.L. Burnside, Junior Kimbrough, and alternative rockers Morphine, The Black Keys, Nick Cave, and PJ Harvey.

Produced, engineered, mixed and mastered by Mat Sampson at Bink Bonk Studios, Bristol, the six songs of ‘I Don’t Give a Damn Anymore’ will be available as a digital download for £5 from July 1st. If you purchase from www.huskytones.com, you’ll be taken on a unique experience whereby you’ll receive an email a day for six days including a link to where you can download a new song, read the lyrics and watch a video of the Husky Tones talking about the making of the song. If you purchase during the pre-order period, you will also receive an EP of alternate takes and acoustic songs.

Husky Tones will be performing their new material at various venues and festivals throughout 2018 including main-stage performances at The Tolpuddle Martyrs’ Festival (appearing just before Jeremy Corbyn) 22 July, The Green Gathering 03 August, Aberjazz 27 August, Off The Tracks 01 September, Tenby Blues Festival 17 November.

Husky Tones’ songs have been played on national radio including the BBC Radio Two Blues Playlist and by Paul Jones on BBC Radio Two as well as international radio. Their 2017 album ‘Who Will I Turn To Now?’ has been album of the week on radio stations in the USA, UK, and Europe. They have been described as ‘Artist to Watch’ in ION Indie Magazine USA with their song ‘Momentum’ as a featured video.
